'Hop Along'

When passengers in a vehicle let out a blood-curdling scream, it's usually when the car is careening down the road uncontrollably toward some pessimistic fate. Not this time. In fact, my car wasn't even running. That didn't stop my wife from shouting "Ah!" and nearly jumping out of her skin. She scared the daylights out of me! She immediately had the attention of kids from the back seat as well.

Something shot off of Carol's arm into the air. "It's a grasshopper, mom!" Abigail announced, laughing at her mother's reaction. "Oh, good. At least I know what it is now!" Carol responded, relieved. I'm not sure what she thought it could be, but considering her reaction, she must have thought it the equivalent to a tiny serial killer.

The problem was, the grasshopper, clearly also quite afraid, vanished into the car somewhere. We looked for awhile then gave up the search.

Two days later, I get ready to head to worship on Sunday morning and low-and-behold, grasshopper... down at the bottom of my driver's side cup holder. Of course, I had coffee, so now what? I couldn't just smash an innocent grasshopper! I cannot begin to tell you how long it took me to get that stupid bug out of there. My hand was just big enough where reaching down and simply grabbing him wasn't an option. Making matters worse, there was a small connecting point between the driver's and passenger's side cup holders that he could slide into to buy him time.

I started talking to the grasshopper like I could reason with it. "Come on! I'm trying to save you! Do you want me to smash you? I could smash you, you know. Pleeeeeaaaaaaase, get out of there. I have things to do!" Finally, I found a receipt under one of my seats. Slowly, I slid it down the side of the cup holder, just behind the bug. He looked at me like, "What?" appeared to sigh, and that's when it decided to jump out of the cup holder and out of the car.

I ended our "discussion" with him by saying, "It took you long enough!"

We scare people with our resistance to do what is best. We cling to things that we should not, go places that are dark and try to hide, all without noticing that if we stay there long enough it will cost us. Is it hyperbolic to say that when we do this, we are risking our lives? Maybe we aren't risking our next breath, but we are certainly risking the quality of our next breath.

Things could be so much better if I would just...

Feel free to finish that sentence yourself. God has probably already spoken to you about what it is. Now it's up to us to jump.

WREATHS across AMERICA

Shoebboxes are available on the table in the back of the church. The Boxes should be returned on Sunday, November 14th. Thank you to Trish and Bob Dahlie for organizing the event. Let's not forget the children this Christmas!

World Vision

The Youth Fellowship Group has adopted Yamukelo Matshidiso through World Vision. We recently received her annual report. She is now 6 years old and still too young to go to school. World Vision workers have frequently visited her to monitor her well-being. Currently her health is good. Her family has benefited from hygiene education and received a hygiene kit with soap, toothpaste, toothbrush and shampoo. Her family has learned ways to prevent violence against children and the systems in place to prevent and respond to abuse. Our support is still vital to bringing much needed assistance to her and her community.

Remembering

Pat Moore

Our former organist, Pat Moore, went to heaven to be with our Lord on Saturday, September 11, 2021. She was a gifted musician and worked as a registered nurse for many years. She loved music, especially piano. She taught piano and organ lessons to hundreds of students over the years. She will be dearly missed.

THANK YOU!

I would like to thank all of my church family for the many prayers, cards, phone calls, texts, food, and support that I received after my surgery. I am doing well and should see you soon. I am hoping that I am going to be able to help others find that there is relief. If you hear of anyone that says they have been diagnosed with trigeminal neuralgia would you please give them my information.

Again thank you for all of your support.
Kathy Arndt

Thank you for the help we received from the church Compassion Fund. We greatly appreciate that and the wheelchair ramp the youth group helped build. The ramp is so good!

Thank you,

Per your request, we have restricted your donation to be used for our community outreach program. We are continually grateful for the overwhelming support that our local community shows. Please know that your contribution will make a difference in the lives of others.

Dear Lindsey Trinity Church Family,

Thanks to all of you who sent graduation cards and/or attended my graduation party. I was happy to see you after being separated for many months. I have been blessed by this church and all of you since I started attending. I am also very appreciative to have been awarded the Adulthood Fund. It has been very helpful while I get started in my Heavy Equipment field. Thanks for all the great memories. I'm glad to have been part of this community.

Sincerely,
Colby Pendleton
