“Mist-ified”

“What’s this all about?”

The coffee house recently remodeled its very tiny back-room bathroom. Everything in the room had been updated. I was enjoying the newness of it all when something caught my eye. There were a couple decorative canisters on the shelves against the wall, bathroom misters.

“This ought to make things better for someone.” I didn’t want to spray mist directly onto a surface, so I picked up a canister and gave it a good spray directly into the air, towards the ceiling. I’m not sure what I was expecting to happen. I am sure that my bald head magnified the experience. It felt like I was standing in the center of a “Vanilla Cashmere” snow globe. A concentration of mist fell over me like a wet blanket. I felt it cascade across my head, neck and arms. I might as well have just lifted my shirt and sprayed it onto my chest.

It turns out that cashmere is a “luxurious, natural fiber harvested from the fine, downy undercoat of cashmere goats.” I now felt like the G.O.A.T. of vanilla. I smelled like a walking bakery. There was no use trying to wash it off. It was a part of me now.

Back into the coffee house I went, feeling like Mr. Mister. A couple of folks walked past me as they went to order. “What you gonna get, honey?” “Hmm, I’m feeling like a vanilla latte.” “Me too!” Coincidence? Maybe. Maybe not. My vanilla aura was at level 11. It’s power was undeniable. I could feel it working.

At the gym, one of my lifting buddies asked, “Is someone cooking something?” Yeah, my body heat was cooking up some of that wonderful goat juice in his very presence. He had no idea it was emanating from me.

What started with, “What is this all about?” ended with me being covered with a scent that ultimately affected people around me. It’s not that I intended it to be that way. It just happened.

There is something so powerful about who Christ is that when they abide with Him, they’re affected. For those who are willing to accept him, it’s like parts of who He is washes over them and clothes them in a way that’s near impossible for others to ignore. People sense that there’s something different in the air. They may not know what the primary source is, the true greatest of all time, but they are moved.

Be courageous enough to ask, “What is Jesus all about?” Draw close. Dwell with him. What starts with being mystified, could end in being mist-ified.

Sharon Neifer Memorial Scholarship Recipients

Join us for 10 am worship Sunday, June 14th as we celebrate the graduates of Lindsey Trinity Church.
Congratulations to all 2026 High School and College Graduates!

I have attended church since I was a baby and was baptized at the First United Methodist Church, in Bowling Green. My family moved to Gibsonburg when I was three and we continued to attend church in BG, but that was not always happening due to the distance and life with me and my brother. I remember attending the Christmas Program at Lindsey Trinity United Methodist Church in 2018, as my friend Jessika was in the program and her family Erika and Mark Montgomery attended this church. From that time on my family began attending Lindsey Trinity and transferred our membership. I made my confirmation in eighth grade, looking back, I was young, and it was a lot of material and difficult to take in and understand. As I have matured throughout the years, I have become more interested in the scriptures and the sermons. This past year, I have attended church more often, and I really want to be there and have an understanding of the scriptures, more. I also feel that Pastor Travis is a big influence as to me attending and relating to his sermons. He truly makes the sermons relatable to the real world, which makes it interesting to learn. I am thankful for my church and church family, for their continued support through my years. I plan to continue attending church at college and hope to find a supportive church community. In the fall, I will be attending Miami University and majoring in Nursing. - Emmerson Coe

There are so many ways that God has blessed me through Lindsey Trinity Church. I have been coming to Lindsey Church since I was six years old. To be honest, I really don't remember much about going to any other church. This has been my church home during my most influential years. What I have learned about God and my faith has primarily come from Lindsey Trinity Church.

To start with, I remember when I was little coming to church. I remember being in front of the whole church while Pastor Travis would come up with a story about God based on whatever object was in the bag. I remember thinking that was really cool and I couldn't wait to get the bag again so I could stump him. I remember church being a place that I liked coming to every Sunday. These experiences at such a young age already started to shape my care and love for the church.

As I started to age, I was involved in our youth Sunday School class. The Sunday School class used to be before church and it usually was my Aunt Carol or my mom as the teacher. During these lessons I started to really learn about God and what faith really meant. I had learned and heard many stories when I was young, but during these lessons I started to learn what these stories really meant. The lessons started to add depth to my early bible stories I had read. I was a very curious kid and I remember wanting to know why, a lot as a child. It was during Sunday School time I started to really learn and grow in my knowledge of the bible and my faith really started to grow.

This leads us to the last six or seven years of my life being a member of Lindsey Trinity Church. During these strongly influential years, I know that the people at Lindsey and Pastor Travis really have helped shape me to where my faith is today. During this stage, I went through the confirmation classes, got confirmed, and I would sit in the pew and actually listen to the sermon each week. From the sermons, I have learned so much about many scriptures and how to act and behave as a Christian man. I have learned how scripture applies to me and what I can do when I have adversities. I have learned it is okay to make mistakes, or go through tough times but the common denominator is that God will always be with me and be there for me through it all. I will have to say that each stage of my life helped me to grow in my walk with Christ. In the beginning it was grabbing my attention with the bag during children's time, then to the structured Sunday School lessons, and now just sitting in the pew and absorbing the sermon and applying it to my life. All of these stages brought me to where I am now and I feel blessed to have a church that supports me and has helped me to be the faithful Christian man I am today. Thank you Lindsey Trinity Church. - Luke Foster

Women's Retreat Recap
April 25, 2026

The recent Rooted Women's Retreat, led by Pastor Grace Brooks, provided a meaningful time of teaching, reflection, and connection. Her message centered on the importance of being firmly grounded in faith and cultivating a life that grows from that foundation. Guest Speaker, Pam Kensler delivered an informative and inspiring presentation on the mission and ongoing efforts of Habitat for Humanity—Women's Build. In support of this ministry, a freewill offering was received, totaling $377.83. Pam expressed her gratitude, stating, "Thank you for the opportunity and support!!"

"What a wonderful blessing that was to be able to attend the ladies retreat yesterday. I thought that it was really thought out and planned so beautifully. Thank you so much for letting me have that opportunity to be there... thank you so much for a wonderful blessing event. God bless you and your church family." - Tonya
